

Arbor Acres Holds 1st Annual Tag Sale

Arbor Acres United Methodist Retirement Community is holding its first Angels Tag Sale to benefit the Resident Financial Assistance Fund. Every year Arbor Acres spends more than one million dollars from a variety of endowment funds to help pay fees and critical medical expenses for about 30 residents in need. With the financial squeeze felt by many older people that number is expected to grow.

The Tag Sale will be open to the public. Arbor Acres residents, their families, vendors and others have created or donated hundreds of items to be sold, including artwork, jewelry, electronics, china, crystal, antiques, appliances, area rugs and furniture. Many of the items were handcrafted by artistic residents, such as children's chairs painted by Winston-Salem artist and Arbor Acres resident, Sarah Reynolds Dixon.
